Atom Vercorian, private eye and dedicated detective, decides to go behind the back of his father, the police chief, to investigate the disappearance of Begum Aga Khan's jewels. In August 1949, the wealthiest couple in the world was the victim of a robbery as speedy as it was spectacular, the value of the stolen goods amounting to over 200 million francs. Between vintage elegance and graphic modernism, a wonderfully retro adventure that toys with the genre's codes and flirts with the classics.
