From the story that Paul Cuvelier told his little brothers in 1943 in the unfinished episode of 'Corentin et l'Ogre rouge', to the script written by Jacques Martin in 1973, Philippe Godin invites us to take a look back at the author of the famous Corentin, with more than 100 pages of colour illustrations, sepia designs and black and white sketches, most of which have never before been published. Bonus features include, the final unfinished adventure drawn by Corentin Cuvelier and written by J. Martin, the 'father' of the famous 'Alix', and 6 panels of the adventures of 'Wapi,' originally published in 'Tintin' but now only available in this album.
