Charlie is a solitary white mouse whose one dream is of someday being a writer. In spite of his enthusiasm, Charlie has a problem: he always seems to find himself staring at a blank sheet of paper.

Frozen with anxiety, he sits there, paralysed before his task. And nothing comes out! Charlie needs inspiration. That's when a little bird named Mr. Solitude appears. Mr. Solitude urges Charlie to overcome his doubts and fears. A pensive and dreamy fairy tale about that solitude which so often instigates the desire to create.
