They're all high-flying businessmen, politicians or economists. But many of them are also components of the worldwide mafia network engaged in underground activities. Faced with this growing threat, The White House decides to rise to the challenge. Its secret weapon: Najah! Officially speaking, she's going to become the right-hand woman of one of the big bosses. Unofficially speaking, Najah is an infiltrator, an insider. Her mission is to uncover the links between the various mafia groups during a planetary poker tournament...
