At the end of the life cycle, the souls of the deceased reach the portal of rebirth. However, they are sometimes unable to pass through and materialize in the form of a "kiroho." Some people (called "spirit passers") are able to see them. Following a wave of strange disappearances in a French coastal town, the mayor calls upon Professor Charles, a kiroho specialist. Accustomed to being the last resort and quite intrigued by the mayor's story, Professor Charles agrees to come to the town's aid. But at what cost?
