Once upon a time, there was a kingdom whose subjects were dumb, because the fierce king Karalius ordered to tear out all their tongues to preserve a terrible and shameful secret. The secret of his daughter Sniégolė who offered her virginity to the Beast, the monstrous Gyvulus, in exchange for eternal beauty. The innocent and wild Vaiva, the ginger-haired, at the age of first love and living at the far end of the forest of the kingdom, escaped from this cruel mutilation. She will lead the reader through a succession of dramas.
