While

filming a documentary in Jerusalem, Grazialla Plattner and Charlotte Estève are looking over the photos they took the previous evening at the Wailing Wall. They come across a visual anomaly which they at first put down to a default in the film... but then they realize that that's not the case at all: an entire section of the wall has disappeared overnight!

Grazialla heads off for a mysterious rendez-vous by the Dead Sea, and Charlotte $\,$ goes back to Paris. Once she's back in her home town, she starts to notice strange $\,$ goings-on in the French capital as well: whole sections of buildings and monuments seem to have just disappeared. And that's just the beginning! It seems that all the architectural treasures of the planet are vanishing without a trace!
