No, Ysabelle will not marry the crusty old man that her father imposes on her! And no, Excalibur will not forever suffer from the drunken mood swings of its owner!

Both are under the control of the king—and what a king! King Arthur, who is far from his former glory, has reduced them both to the rank of objects although they are perfectly worthy of words and intelligence. The legendary sword and the princess will bind their fates in an emancipating quest that will lead them into the depths of the Pendragon kingdom.
