Juniper Univails is only on a quest for peace when she decides to leave her family to work on her new novel. But, blocked by snow, it is impossible for her to reach the chalet that her mother left her in her will. She is forced to stay in the quiet little city of Mize, in the heart of the Rocky Mountains, Colorado. There she soon meets Tallulah, a young local beauty, unstable and shameless. Soon, affection will grow between the two women who have nothing in common. And bit by bit, this affection will grow into friendship, as if they had met before...
