When Marsu and Tom meet at an architectural convention in some far-flung country, sparks fly... on a professional level, that is. Tom, who buys the rights to virtual access to amazing homes, shares the most exotic of them with Marsu, thanks to a VR headset, and they start a "platonic" love affair in these virtual spaces.

In real life, Marsu has a partner, Harry, whom she loves deeply and has absolutely no intention of leaving. But she doesn't want to give up her new relationship either...
