We are in a futuristic world where superheroes are a dime a dozen. You may be wondering how superheroes became so common... well a meteorite crashed on Earth and smashed into lots of little pieces. And each piece of this meteorite holds superpowers. You just have to touch one of these magical nuggets and the power is yours forever. But we're also in the hyper-connected world of social networks where only the top-rated superheroes on the web have jobs. Seriously, if you get mugged, you're gonna call a superhero who has 98 or 97 % positive reviews, not some 83 % loser. So, superhero's life is far from simple, but that doesn't stop Ziad and his sister Louna from dreaming of becoming one.
