“Stop that, come over here, set the table, don’t eat with your fingers, go brush your teeth, stand up straight...” The list of rules adults impose on kids is as long as it is useless. Kev is convinced of this and that’s why he thinks a change is much needed! In his opinion, the world of grown-ups sucks, so why put up with them? After all, he’s already 10, has an unlimited imagination and not enough time to do everything he has planned! His mom, his teacher, and his little brother certainly won’t stop him. If you’ve read Titeuf, there’s a chance you’ll love Kev.
