Alphonse Tabouret is a little boy born in the last rain shower in the middle of the forest. He has everything to learn and there is a man who shows him the first fun things to do. But after a rather abrupt discussion, the man decides to go elsewhere, leaving our little boy alone. He no longer has a choice, he must go and explore the world. Over the course of his new encounters, just around the corner, he discovers people, creatures, stuff and widgets that will lead him to cool adventures, and teach him lots of important things about life.
