Think of Sleepy Hollow...End of the 19th century, an isolated place (an island), ancestral legends surface once again... Fear and anguish await the rendezvous! Each album of the series constitutes a complete story.

Jean-Baptiste Poulain travels to this rather isolated island, off the coast of Brittany. He must find the local Baron and look after his son, Nolwen. His tutorial mission turns to a nightmare when they discover the cadaver of the son. People also whisper that other young men have disappeared before. Why do people hate and fear the Baron? What is the mystery of this island?

Stuck in this oppressive décor, between moorlands, forests and sea, Jean-Baptiste will discover the truth of these tragic events and the more intimate buried truth of his own story...

In this series

L'Île de Brac

La Vierge noire

La Providence

La Bête
