Miru Miru is a little sea otter. One night, he forgets to attach himself to his fellow sea otters with seaweed, which is what they all do before going to sleep so as not to be separated. As he sleeps, he drifts away from his companions on strong currents. He's swept into a river. He wakes up to find himself in a world completely different to the one he knows. And so begins a whole new life of discovery!

The series has been turned into an animated series, more information here.
