When Pacifique is released from prison on parole, he is immediately contacted by his former employer Ashram who wants him to start delivering drugs for him again. Paci is the king of a drug drop technique known as "go fast", which entails delivering the drugs in a fast car going at full speed without stopping. Only real hotheads and ace drivers can actually do it, so Paci is considered a rare commodity. But he wants to get his act together, settle down and live a quiet life. Ashram wants to understand, but he fears that his main dealer will bypass him and try to recruit Paci directly. Paci therefore finds himself in a really bad situation which he cannot avoid simply by lying low... The three volumes of this story will be released over a one-year period.
