What builds an individual? His memories? The memories he has? The good times of the past? The bad? The adults we grew up with?

With total honesty, Gwen de Bonneval sets out to meet Gwen de Bonneval, to rediscover a childhood that wasn't all that happy. With a moody, violent mother, an absent father and the crushing figure of a grandfather.

But the author of Dernier Atlas and Messire Guillaume is also a man of today and tomorrow, as he explores his present as a young father and the future of the world, which he sees as ecologically bleak.
