He's cute,

he's nice, and he's smart... That Diego who's just rocked up at school sure has a lot going for him. All the girls are crazy about him, and the boys can't quite bring themselves to hate him! And Tamara is no exception. Typically, she assumes she hasn't got even the slightest chance. Yoli, her half sister, encourages her to tell Diego how she feels. And, incredibly, it works! And so, for Tamara, the torments of adolescence are at last going to transform into the torments of her first love...
