Norway, the winter of 1994. The Killmasters, a heavy metal group made up of Ada, Morten, Ulrik and Bjorn, head home after a concert. On the road back, they end up driving behind a truck which has blood pouring from it. When the truck turns off, the musicians, intrigued by what they're seeing, decide to follow. A little further down the road, they discover the truck parked up, and the driver's seat empty. Frightened, they decide to leave, but are stopped by three hunters who accuse them of having something to do with the driver's disappearance. The hunters open up the trailer to find the mangled bodies of several young women. A monstrous creature suddenly appears and rips two of the hunters to shreds. The third, Henrik, manages to escape with The Killmasters...
